Choice A

MIA, “La La Land”

Because I've been to a million auditions and same thing happens every time. Where I get interrupted because someone wants to get a sandwich. Or, I'm crying and they start laughing. Or, there's people sitting in the waiting room, and they're, and they're like me but prettier and better at the...because maybe I'm not good enough.

No, maybe I'm not. Maybe I'm one of those people that has always wanted to do it, but it's like a pipe dream for me. You know, and then you, you said it. You change your dreams and then you grow up. Maybe I'm one of those people and I'm not supposed to. And I can go back to school and I can find something else that I'm supposed to do. It's been six years and I don't want to do it anymore.

Choice B

LUCY, “The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe”

Nobody will believe me. They're all so 'mature' compared to little me. And they all look down upon me and say that I imagine too much. Well, I know what happened to me – I'm not imagining it. It sounds ridiculous, I know. A world that exists through a wardrobe, with real snow and trees. Even now, I am in shock at having met a real-life Faun! Why, Mr Tumnus was so very kind to me. I will never forget when I first felt the crunch of fresh snow beneath my feet. At first, I thought it was moth balls! Although, I was terrified at the moment that I found myself alone in the woods, I was so excited and curious...

Choice C

TROY, “Disney's High School Musical”

Yeah this is my private hideout. Thanks to the Horticulture Club. My buddies don't even know about the callbacks. It IS tricky being the coach's son. He's gonna freak when he hears about the singing thing. My parents' friends are always saying, 'Your son is the basketball guy. You must be so proud.' Sometimes I don't want to be 'the basketball guy.' I just want to be, you know, me. No, my friends don't know about the audition. Are you kidding? To them I'm the playmaker dude. But we can't let people stop us from doing what we want to do. I mean, we are what we do, right?
